Church Visits Set For Coming Thurs.

Members of the Student Congregation will be visited in small groups by a deacon and another selected representative of the congregation. Visits will be in members' respective housing units on Thursday evening between 8:15 and 10:15.

This every-member visit (EMV) is carried out each year under the auspices of the Christian Life Committee of the congregation.

During the half-hour visits the pledge system of offering will be explained and implemented. Members are encouraged to give honest and prayerful thought beforehand to this important aspect of their congregational life, according to Carl Jech, head of the committee.

Congregation members will also receive cards on which they may volunteer their services in such areas as altar guild, clerical work and visiting.

The Student Congregation is now an official participant in the visitation program of Wartburg College.

Passavant Club, Phoebes, Chi Rho and congregation members are all specifically invited to participate in this work of visiting which the epistle of James calls a basic part of "true religion," said Jech.

Theme of the EMV is centered around the book "God Our Contemporary." Everyone will be encouraged to read at least parts of this outstanding work by the "translator" of the popular Phillips translation of the New Testament. (A special order of the book in paperback will arrive soon at the bookstore.)

"This book deals in a readable and fast-moving style with practically all of the vital issues of Christian faith and life today," said Jech.

The fact that someone on the campus was sufficiently inspired to change the sign in the Student Union from "Is God Out of Date?" to "God is out of date" indicates that the issue is one which every Christian today must seriously face.

Phillips' book will be the basis for Sunday discussion groups sometime in November.

"This will mark the first attempt to carry out these visits all in one evening. It will function effectively only if all congregation members make a special effort to be available and ready to assemble at any time during these two hours," Jech requested.

Actress To Open Year's Artist Series

Dame Judith Anderson, actress, will open the 1962-63 Artist Series on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

She will be presenting her two greatest roles—Medea, '62, a climactic condensation of Robinson Jeffers' vivid drama; and Lady Macbeth, television's 1961 Emmy award for best performance by an actress.

William Roerick, Carmalita Scott and George Gordon will accompany Miss Anderson in her performance.

As leading man, Roerick has been featured with almost every great actress of the American stage. Besides his stage performances, he has also done extensive TV writing and acting, having appeared on every major network show.

A memorable role for Roerick was that of the wonderful Southern Colonel in the "Clear Horizon" series.

Concerning her present tour, Dame Judith has received many favorable comments by critics.

The Los Angeles Examiner says, "These grisly doings, invested with poetry of Shakespeare and of Robinson Jeffers, gave Miss Anderson scope to reveal why she has been so frequently called the greatest tragic actress of our time.

APPEARING ON the first Artist Series program will be Dame Judith Anderson, who will present roles of Medea and Lady Macbeth in the Chapel-auditorium Tuesday evening at 8.

"Her Lady Macbeth was merciless but also remorseful, and the sleepwalking scene was a study in guilty penitence. The role of revengeful Medea has been so vivified by Miss Anderson that other players would scarcely be brash enough to attempt it.

"Miss Anderson's tireless intensity and her endless resources of vocal coloring made the theatre vibrate with the essence of drama. . ."

The Hollywood Reporter had this to say about Dame Judith, "Dame Judith Anderson's performance is a wonder of intensity and fire. In William Roerick she has a leading man worthy to be on the stage with her. Fine atmospheric lighting and sets . . ."

Dame Judith made her first appearance as a classical actress in Hamlet and followed her career until today she is one of the top stars of the American stage.

She has also won international acclaim in such places as London, Paris and Berlin. In 1960 she received the award of Knighthood by Queen Elizabeth II as Dame Commander of the British Empire.

Broadway hits which Miss Anderson can claim include "Strange Interlude," "As You Desire Me," "Mourning Becomes Electra," "The Old Maid" and "The Three Sisters," besides her two present roles.

Among her other accomplishments are motion picture fame in "Rebecca" and "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof"; two times being voted best actress of the year on television; and 1961 Actress of the Year by the Los Angeles Times for her present performance.

New Name Received By Christianity Dept.

The Christianity Department has requested and has now received permission from the Educational Policies Committee of Wartburg College to change its name to the Department of Religion, according to Dr. Karl Schmidt, head of the department.

"Basic reasons for this change are that 'Department of Religion' is the accepted designation in academic circles; it is the name used in the other colleges and universities of The American Lutheran Church; and it makes it somewhat easier to transfer credits to state schools under the heading of humanities," said Dr. Schmidt.

Directories Coming

The new 1962-63 student directory will be released for sale next week, according to Louise Loots, editor.

Places on campus where this directory can be purchased include the cafeteria lines, the dormitories and the dean of students office.

Listed in alphabetical order, the student directory contains the names of all the faculty members and students of Wartburg College during the current year.

Such information as the school residence, home address, telephone number and classification is also given for each name.

Beginning next Tuesday or Wednesday these directories will be available for purchase at the price of forty cents, according to Miss Loots.

Silent Saturday Campus Sees HS Mass Invasion

By Evan Bartelt

In case anyone still hasn't figured out why the line was so long for lunch today, and who all these strangers dressed up in suits on a Saturday are, it's time he heard the secret:

Today is Fall High School Visitation Day for over four hundred who have come from seven different states.

This morning, while most Wartburg students were still asleep, the visitors heard an address by the Rev. Merritt Bomhoff, assistant to the president, on the topic "Why Attend a Church-related College?"

Early-rising Student Body President Dick Buchsteiner also addressed the group this morning.

After the welcoming program three different counseling sessions were scheduled in which visitors might question instructors from different fields and obtain information about registration.

At 12:10 the visiting high schoolers had lunch in the cafeteria.

Campus tours were given this morning during registration and following lunch until 1:30.

At 1:30 many gathered in Schield Stadium (those lucky enough to get out to the stadium in time to find a seat) to watch the Knights and the Spartans of the University of Dubuque battle it out on the home turf.

Right now these visitors all have free time to respond to the traditional Wartburg "hi." Who knows, fellows? You may get a head start with that cute little blonde sitting on the couch watching TV.

Variety Highlights Drama As Year's Activities Told

"We tried to find a balanced schedule, using different types of plays to appeal to different interests," were the words of John Gill, drama director, concerning this winter's theatre season.

Four plays will be presented this season by the Wartburg Players. The first of them, "Squaring the Circle" by Valentine Kataev, will be performed on Nov. 29, 30 and Dec. 1. Casting has already been completed.

Appearing in the comedy will be Vance Kasten, Pat Ravn, Ronald Kuehl and Barb Erickson, freshmen; sophomores Nancy Baker, Alex Frick and Kathryn Becker; and juniors Bonnie Loufek, Nancy Keel and Al Sandau. J. Scott Fritschel will appear as a guest performer. Assistant directors will be Dee Ann Dreier and Dan Moeller.

During Spiritual Emphasis Week, on Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 and 2, a more serious play will be done.

"It will parallel as closely as possible the basic theme of Spiritual Emphasis Week," Gill said.

Under consideration for this production are "Five Finger Exercise" and "The Silver Cord."

On March 7, 8 and 9 a psychological murder thriller will be presented.

"This will be the first time in many years that a murder mystery has been done on the Wartburg stage and I feel that it will have a definite appeal," said Gill.

"The second annual musical, presented by the Castle Singers and the Drama Department, will be done on April 26 and 27.

"The musical originated last year and the venture proved extremely successful. It is hoped that we can make it an annual event," said Gill.

Two musicals are being considered. One of them is the recent Broadway hit which starred Carol Burnett, "Once Upon a Mattress," and the other one, also a New York hit, is "Little Mary Sunshine."

Crew call for the first play will be held after Homecoming, according to Gill.

Kastle Kapers Plans Told

"The traditional Homecoming variety show, Kastle Kapers, will take on a new look this year," stated junior Ron Burichter, committee chairman.

He and his committee, consisting of junior Lois Remmers and senior Vivian Johnson, are in charge of the show under the theme of "When Knights Were Bold."

Kastle Kapers is the annual show held in Knights Gym on Friday night of the Homecoming weekend.

The show features acts by members of the student body and the results of the freshman beard-growing contest. The crowning of the Homecoming queen is the high light of the festivities.

This year Kapers will again be followed by a pep rally and bonfire.

Final plans for Kastle Kapers will be released after approval by the faculty advisers, Dr. James Fritschel, Music Department, and Dr. Robert Dell, Department of Religion.

A campus decorations contest will be a part of the coming Homecoming activities.

Trophies will be awarded for the winning entry to campus and the best off-campus decorations, according to sophomore Arlene Abbs, chairman of the Homecoming Decorations Committee.

The external decorations will be based on one of the two themes: "Blot out Penn!" or "Christ, Our Cornerstone."

Besides the decorating of the dormitories and other buildings, there will be one main display, using the religious theme and emphasizing Wartburg's five-year building plan. Bonnie Lofek, junior, is chairman of this committee.

Committee for over-all campus decorations, under sophomore Larry Olk, will decorate light posts and trees, mark future building sites and place banners at strategic places around campus.

Ole Miss Miscues

It is hard to believe that situations such as the one now existing in Mississippi take place in the world today — but they do.

It is hard for college students such as us to conceive of such strong feelings over racial discrimination. In the case of the admission of Negro James Meredith into the University of Mississippi, the state had opposed orders of the federal government in order to keep Meredith out of the university.

The dispute has risen during the last weeks to great heights in the news world. It has grown to include not only the issue of segregation or integration, but also states' rights against federal orders.

It appears that Governor Ross Barnett took too much power into his hands without much forethought. This is apparently the first time that a governor has so radically opposed the federal government since the Civil War.

Reasons for the Governor's opposition are somewhat hazy. He must have surely given thought to the implications of his decision. For one state to rebel against 49 others is almost the height of the ridiculous. He must have foreseen that ultimately he would have to give in to higher powers.

However, Governor Barnett did gain his point. He has the favor of the people of his state for standing up for his rights as long as he did. People can understand how he would finally have to give in, but he resisted three attempts of the federal government to register Meredith before federal officers finally succeeded.

It is questionable whether the students and faculty of "Ole Miss" are for or against the admission of Meredith to the school. In one survey it was revealed that most of the faculty would not oppose teaching him.

It is difficult to comprehend how we would react in a similar situation were we transported to the campus of Mississippi. Tension now has lessened, though, and campus activities have returned to a degree of normality.

One incident evolving from the trouble is the change of place for today's Homecoming game. It was thought advisable that the game be moved because of the tension existing in Oxford at the present time.

Many of the Homecoming activities have even been canceled. Several students have been involved in the riots and disturbances during the past week, but it is regrettable that the entire student body must suffer.

Apparent conditions on the Wartburg campus in regard to racial discrimination are unnoticeable. Presently, there are four American colored students on our campus, more than Wartburg has had for the past several years.

It is gratifying to know that these Wartburg students have been well received on our campus and that conditions comparable to those in the South are not a part of our situation.

What will finally happen to James Meredith on the campus of "Ole Miss" still remains to be seen. Whether his future will bring acceptance, complete rejection or violence will only be seen in the coming weeks and months.

Quote often heard today: "Well, are we going to stand in line or shall we go up town to eat?"

---

From now on, all Wartburg students will be walking around with their thumbs in the air!

---

When the Four Freshmen came on stage, the Frosh should have greeted them with "Oh, most Honorable Freshmen!"

---

The Four Freshmen really get around. But then again, the Rendezvous isn't too hard to find.

---

James Meredith's first class was in American History. Rather appropriate when he himself was adding a chapter.

WITH MANY ORGANIZATIONS

Communication Is Essential

By Dick Buchsteiner

We have a large number of organizations on our campus, and it is essential that some form of communication exists between the organizations and student government.

The way in which student government can be informed about the activities of the organizations is by having a copy of their minutes to read.

The files in the Senate office contain folders in which the minutes of each organization are kept. In looking through these folders, I found one of our organizations that hasn't turned in minutes since 1955. Two other prominent groups last informed student government of their activities in 1959.

These are but a few examples of how organizations are failing to communicate with student government. If the student body president is to have an overall view of what is happening in student groups, he must know what these groups are planning.

Buchsteiner

I would like to appeal to all organization secretaries to hand in a copy of their minutes. There are two wire baskets on the desk in my office for the placement of these minutes. The dean of students and the president of the college are also to receive a copy of all organizational minutes.

The files contain minutes dating back a number of years, and we want to bring them up to date and dispose of all minutes dating back earlier than 1960.

If any presidents or secretaries wish to have the minutes from earlier meetings of their organization, they are urged to contact me before these are disposed of.

Many organizations have not submitted a recent copy of their constitution. Several of the constitutions are outdated or not on file.

The Constitutions Committee is planning to study the constitutions of the organizations, and it would save a lot of work if each group would give us a copy of the constitution by which it is now governed.

Communication is a two-way proposition. Student government wants to keep you informed and, in turn, wants you to keep it informed. I urge all organization presidents and secretaries to give us their cooperation.

Critic Reviews 'Roshomon'

By Christine Hemenway

Despite an unappreciative reception by some immature Wartburg students, "Roshomon," first in the Film Festival series, sponsored by the English Department, favorably impressed those able to concentrate on it Wednesday night.

That man, despite his selfishness and deceit, retains human sympathy and the ability to transcend his situation is the theme of the film.

Set in eighth-century Japan, the story is a moving portrayal of four versions of the seduction of a beautiful woman and the murder of her husband by a clever bandit.

The interpretations of the three participants and an observer prove revealing of human nature, as each puts the most charitable construction on all that he himself has done.

EXACTLY WHAT has occurred remains debatable. The triumph of humanity is illustrated by the sympathy of the observer-thief for an abandoned infant whom he takes into his home.

None-too-clear subtitles, more emotional acting than is usually seen in American films and a rather obvious conclusion to the movie were less annoying than the antics of some Wartburgers.

PERHAPS IT is indicative of the tastes of many Wartburg students that, with laughter, they reject a fine film because of unfamiliarity with such a phenomenon. If this is so, whether the remainder of the Film Festival series is deserved on campus may be questionable.

It is to be hoped that the movie-going portion of the student body will either generate enough interest to focus serious attention on serious films or develop respect for those who wish to do so.

Martinovsky Gets Reply To Last Week's Column

By Mike Sherer

Martinovsky—

Why don't you give up? That last bit of spy-ology you turned in was grossly exaggerated! Utterly distorted! Completely misleading! (Pravda could use you!)

Whatever healthy revolutionary tendencies you described as existing among the capitalists must have been imagined on your part. Such tendencies were nowhere in evidence when I visited one of their centers of indoctrination.

Sherer

I was forced to disguise myself as a "High Schooler" considering enrollment at a bourgeoisie college. I succeeded in this deception only when I learned to wear my trousers considerably lower than we are accustomed to wearing them, and by assuring others I met that I was wise in all things.

(I discovered that the chief distinction between "high school" and college students is that the former know everything, but the latter are prepared to take an examination over it.)

I felt somewhat inadequate in concealing my foreign appearance. I soon learned, however, that many of them speak no better English than do I; and since I wore my letter jacket (varsity riot squad) from the University of Moscow, they thought me to be from Maquoketa, a capitalist trading center.

They are too self-centered here ever to become effective socialists. Personal gain is emphasized. Everyone seems caught up in the pursuit of happiness and "grades" (an elusive something that everyone wants and nobody has). The young men are caught up in the pursuit of the young women.

Propaganda is misdirected and enforcement methods are medieval. A wall sign proclaimed "Rack The Redmen!" (And I have it on good authority that they have done this very thing).

Classrooms echo with archaic phrases and degenerate bourgeoisie terms — "free enterprise," "states' rights," "self-determination" are openly discussed. From time to time there are even those who have the courage to mention the "Monroe Doctrine."

You must be more careful with the classified information you compile, Martinovsky. It is hardly adequate that your intelligence data be enclosed in a plain wrapper and addressed to "Mr. K., Headquarters." Too often it has ended up at the White House.

As the theological (a remnant of bourgeoisie religion) students here say, "Big brother is watching you."

Student Questions Diploma's Worth

To the Editor:

In this short article I wish to express my sincere gratitude to the administration, board of directors and whoever (sic) else it may concern (not wishing to overlook anyone).

In our highly principled institution it lifts one's soul to the pinnacle of ecstacy (sic) to observe our governing superiors upholding and insisting upon committments (sic) of profound insights and unquestionable value.

WE CAN NOW proudly boast that Wartburg College offers no degree, transfer of credits or recognition of any nature to graduates refusing to attend commencement exercises, a standard based on sensible college tradition.

It is the firm belief of this author, in agreement with the established school policy, that any person completing four years of full-time study at Wartburg should consider it a personal responsibility and pleasure to receive proper recognition for his efforts.

How can any student possibly consider facing his responsibilities in life (for which he has given four dedicated years of preparation and perhaps will struggle on in graduate study) without appearing before friends and loved ones as he receives this all-important piece of paper?

HOW CAN ANY student fully grasp his mission of service to his fellow men and his obligation to society without looking occasionally at the wall where he has hung his elaborately decorated diploma embracing his very own name which inspires that added surge to struggle forward?

Let us continue to stand united to maintain the importance of a piece of paper on the wall over four years of concentrated study implanted in the mind!

H. D. Schlachtenhaufen

Wartburg Teams Post First Victories Of Season

Knights Battle Spartans In Today's Pigskin Match

By Jim Ward

This afternoon's game between the Knights and the University of Dubuque will begin at 1:30 p.m. in Schield Stadium here.

Knights will be seeking win number two of the 1962 campaign after handing Simpson a 13-7 defeat last Saturday on the Redmen's home field at Indianola.

THE WIN against Simpson ended Wartburg's nine-game losing streak and will send the Jomen against Dubuque today with a 1-2 record.

University of Dubuque will be going into today's game with a 2-1 record, having won over Simpson and Iowa Wesleyan and lost to Luther. Coming up fast this year, the Spartans show good potential despite the fact that they are a relatively young team.

WARTBURG KNIGHTS are expected to field basically the same starting line-up as last week with the possible exception of junior quarterback Eldon Ott, who developed a charley horse as a result of the game last weekend.

Ott was not running at full speed with the team during the week's practice sessions, but he will probably start today.

If Ott is unable to play he will most likely be replaced by freshman Lowell Grunwald, according to Head Coach Norm Johansen.

WARTBURG'S defensive unit will be up against Dubuque's fine Wing-T offense, highlighted by All-Conference fullback Scott Berry and the over-all heavy Dubuque backfield.

In looking back over last week's game, Johansen said that he feels that the Wartburg team is showing much improvement in its ground game, although the passing attack needs much work.

"We did not throw exceptionally well last Saturday night against Simpson," commented Johansen. "However, some of this can be attributed to a wet and slippery ball."

"JO" ALSO commented on the fact that the team showed good blocking against Simpson much of the time, only it was not consistent enough, the biggest deficit showing up in the downfield blocking department.

"We had a good tough defense in the second half with one exception—a slow reaction to pass plays," said Johansen.

Next Saturday the Knights will travel to Iowa Wesleyan to take on the Tigers in their Homecoming game. Wesleyan now has a 1-2 record.

They scored their win in their first action of the season. It was against Simpson 39-7. In the next two encounters they lost close ones to Central 7-0, and Dubuque 10-7.

LOTHAR COLUMBUS shows the strain as he drives toward the finish line. He is expected to finish high in the list of finishers today against Dubuque.

Harriers Will Be Trying To Start Win Streak

This week for the first time in three years, the Knight harriers will begin a meet with the chance to father a winning streak.

However, the opposition, the Spartans of Dubuque, may present a serious obstacle in this venture.

DUBUQUE BEAT Simpson earlier in the season by a greater margin than the Knights did. In addition, Dubuque has one of the top runners of the conference in Dave Sage.

Wartburg's number one man, Lothar Columbus, came from behind to take first place and lead his mates to a 24-35 victory last week over Simpson.

Columbus trailed for most of the race but managed to pull ahead in the last quarter-mile to post a 16-second victory margin. His time was 16:54.

COLUMBUS WAS trailed by Odeh Ali, who finished with a time of 17:10.

The win was made all the more interesting because the Redmen were last to lose to the Knights before Wartburg embarked on its 20-meet, three-year losing streak.

Others in the order they finished the race were Bob Kaldenburg, Simpson; Jim Rasmussen, Wartburg; Roger Palmer, Wartburg; Arlyn Ristau, Wartburg; Musso Qutub, Simpson; George Max, Wartburg; Bill Riggle, Wartburg; Chris Schmidt, Wartburg; and Alan Curtis, Simpson.

Off-Campus Falls In 2 IM Games

Only two games were played on the IM scene this week.

In both cases the Off-campus team took the beating, once by a 35-19 margin at the hands of Ketha House, and again by Clinton I and Basement, 26-0.

Both of the games scheduled for Monday evening were postponed because of rain. They will be replayed at a later date, according to IM Chairman Jim Ward.

The game between Clinton II and Grossmann III resulted in a double forfeit. Both teams were therefore credited with a loss.

A full slate of games is on deck for the coming week. On Monday Married Men take on Clinton III, and North Hall battles Grossmann I, II and Basement.

Thursday features tilts between Ketha House and Clinton I and Basement, and Clinton II and Clinton III.

Saturday's games pit Off-campus against Grossmann I, II and Basement and Grossmann III against Clinton III.

Four Freshmen Score Hit

By Elaine Melchert

"Let's see if we can get this show rolling."

With these words the Four Freshmen began a two and a half hour program of vocal numbers, instrumental arrangements and humor. The occasion was the Wartburg Fall Pops Concert on Tuesday evening in the school's Chapel-auditorium.

Variety highlighted the presentation. Slow numbers were interspersed with faster ones and light music with moody music. Entertainment plus added to the breaks between numbers.

Being able to "blow, strum or thump" seven different instruments added to what might have otherwise turned into a boring performance. Several instrumental high lights brought out talents otherwise unassociated with a primarily vocal group.

Playing for an enthusiastic audience of about twelve hundred people, the Freshmen seemed to steal the show with such numbers as "In This Whole Wide World," "Fools Rush In Where Angels Fear to Tread," "Second Time Around" and "Their Hearts Were Full of Spring."

Though the group played arrangements of many different composers, they also played many songs that were their own or one of the group's arrangements.

Bill Comstock, guitarist and second voice of the quartet, had arranged many of the numbers and sang several of them as solos during the performance.

Bob Flanigan, top voice and trombone and string base player, was the clown of the group. His subtle humor and constant interruptions and expressions were sure to keep the audience continuously in smiles. However, his humor did not seem to overshadow his vocal and instrumental ability when he chose to display that.

As master of ceremonies, third voice and trumpet and drum player, Ross Barbour kept the show rolling. Barbour and Flanigan are cousins and members of the original group which originated at Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., in 1948.

Ken Albers, bass voice and trumpet and mellophone player, presented distinct ability in both his playing and singing.

Clear enunciation, good phrasing, effective pauses and good stage presentation made the show top-notch.

Several selections from the group's newest Capitol record, "The Swingers," were presented. Numbers were also sung from their newest album, entitled "In Person," which will be released in January.

Four Freshmen usually record about three records a year and spend a good share of their time on the road as touring performers. Eight of the group's newest albums were given away by the "Freshmen" to lucky ticket holders.

A mutual feeling seemed to exist in the minds of both the performing group and the audience.

Barbour expressed the feelings of the "Freshmen" by reporting that this was an exceptionally good audience, easy to please and thus easy to play for.

The audience expressed their favor of the performance by the unceasing clapping until the "Freshmen" came back for an encore, something they rarely do.

2 Attending Ames Meet

Miss Erna Moehl and John Solensten, both of the Wartburg English Department, are attending the Iowa Colleges Conference on English this weekend at Iowa State University, Ames.

Major topics to be discussed are "The Modern Novel" and "Modern Poetry."

Miss Moehl said that she is especially interested in the National Council of Teachers of English Bar Examination Project, since several Wartburg English majors have taken this examination.

Pastor Diers Present At Youth Conference

Pastor Herman Diers, Wartburg chaplain, attended the "Youth in the Church" conference held last Monday to Thursday at Minneapolis.

"The conference was attended by about 150 persons, most of whom were pastors," said Diers.

It was held to evaluate the present church youth program and to suggest directions for the future pattern of development of youth work.

Dr. Nyaradi To Address Convocation Next Thurs.

Dr. Nichalos Nyaradi, director, School for International Studies, Bradley University, will be featured at convocation on Thursday as another program in the education block.

Dr. Nyaradi, a citizen of the United States, was born and educated in Hungary. He is the former Minister of Finance of Hungary.

Since coming to America, he has written articles for several newspapers and magazines, including the Saturday Evening Post.

"My Ringside Seat in Moscow," a book by Dr. Nyaradi, is said to be one of the best ever published on Russia. Because of his many trips abroad, he has a vast knowledge of Russia and the Soviet Union.

While in the United States, he is interested in education and civic affairs. Recently he was awarded the George Washington Honor Medal by the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge in recognition for his addresses all over the country.

"American Education at the Crossroads" is the title of his talk for Thursday. According to Chaplain Herman Diers of the Convocations Committee, Dr. Nyaradi should be one of the best speakers this year.

Tuesday's convo period will consist of student body and faculty meetings.

Eight Attending Ecumenical Conf.

Seven Wartburg students and one faculty member are attending the Iowa Student Ecumenical Conference this weekend at Riverside Lutheran Bible Camp, Story City.

Attending from Wartburg are David Garrels, senior; Cleo Eliason and Jim Steinbrecher, juniors; Darlene Wesenberg and Carol Hengeveld, sophomores; Shirley Koch and Norman Augst, freshmen. Adviser from Wartburg is Dr. Robert Dell, Department of Religion.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Mario Colacci, Th. D., D. Litt., professor of New Testament, Greek and Latin at Augsburg Seminary, Minneapolis. He was formerly a Catholic priest.

Questions to be discussed will include: Is reunion with Rome possible? What are the tensions between Roman Catholics and Protestants? What is Roman Catholicism's role in the ecumenical movement?
